

FIVE MILLION TONS

Of Coal Produced in Kentucky During Last Year.

HOPKINS COUNTY

IS IN THE LEAD

State Mine Inspector Reports Harmony Between Operators and Miners Has Made Steady Work.

LARGEST MINES IN STATE.

From the Courier-Journal

A report showing the extent of the coal mining operations in Kentucky as compared with previous years has been prepared for the Courier-Journal by Mr. G. W. Stone, of Lexington, State inspector of Mines.

The report shows a large increase in the amount of coal produced in 1900 over other years, and in full is as follows:

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 6, 1901.—As I have not been able to get complete returns from all the commercial coal mines of the State for the year just closed, it will be impossible to complete my annual report for some weeks; but this same difficulty occurs annually, and the report of this office will be ready as soon as in former years.

For the information of the public, and especially those most interested in the great and fast-growing industry of our State, I desire to state through your columns that the coal production of the State for 1900 is by far the greatest in its history. However, enough reports have been received to indicate a certainty of over five million tons. A comparison of the tonnage of each year since 1891 will show its rapid increase in more recent years and give a better idea of its vast importance to every trade interest in the commonwealth, as well as to the individual homes of the people. And it should be remembered that the present output is not the limit of the full capacity of the mines now in operation, as their extent and equipments will justify a still greater output in the years to come, if favorable trade conditions shall continue; besides the possibilities of our great coal fields, lying all along our eastern and southwestern borders, and in what is known as our western field, are immense and almost incredible, as the number of productive mines and facilities for fast mining can be greatly multiplied, and the developments of this great Kentucky mineral and source of wealth will no doubt be phenomenal in the near future. However, much depends upon markets and transportation and harmony between the capital and labor employed.

The following shows the tonnage for the years named:

CIVIL WAR RELIC.

Piece of Bacon Dug From Well Where It Was Buried For Thirty Years.

Bowling Green, Ky., Feb.—Warren T. Doherty, who resides here, brought to the city today a sure enough relic of the civil war. It is in the shape of a piece of well preserved bacon which has a history. On June 15, 1862, the Confederate army under Gen. Smith encamped at Cumberland Gap was forced to retreat. The Confederates were unable to carry all their army stores with them, and to prevent the Federals capturing their supplies and ammunition dumped everything into a dry well. Several thousand pounds of bacon,

Advance reports from various mines in different sections of the State indicate that the present year will be even more prosperous than last year. Especially is this inferable from the reports received from Hopkins county for the month of January just closed, where the enormous production of 138,367 tons was reached. This is the largest tonnage in its history. A comparison of this county for the three months just named, shows the following production:

January, 1900.....	127,294
October, 1900.....	133,073
January, 1901.....	138,367

This county is specially noted for its splendidly equipped mines; for the harmony between the operators and the employees, which has made steady work; also for the largest producing company in the State—the St. Bernard Coal Company, at Earlington; the output of these mines in 1900 being 572,132 tons, which is an increase of 94,892 tons over its 1899 output. This county is also specially noted for the largest producing mine in the State, the Beltsdale Coal Company, which made the following production for the two years past:

1899.....	70,848
1900.....	179,036
1900.....	255,108
1900.....	50,160

This mine is a marvel in its equipments and production, and its future prospects. It is a shaft 300 feet deep. Its main entry extends from the bottom of the shaft a mile or more eastward, and there are numerous cross entries reaching out right and left to a great distance. These entries connect, of course, with the working rooms where the coal is produced, and on these entries is constructed an underground haulway, which in durability will compare favorably with many of the railroads of the State, the several entries making a total of about four and one-half miles of 40 pound steel rail track, laid on both white-oak ties, and over which is run a 12-ton electric motor having a capacity of 1,000 tons daily. This motor reaches out to all parts of the mine, and brings in great loads of its black, rich freight to the bottom of the shaft, where it is quickly hoisted to the surface and dumped into the railroad cars and transported to various markets in the country.

To give a more vivid idea of the vastness of this mine, I note that its main entry, much of the way, is so wide and high as to admit of the driving of eight horses abreast by a single team of men.

The coke production of the year, as compared to 1899, is as follows:

1899—Tons.....	55,680
1900.....	73,974

The fatal accident record of the year increased from seven in 1899 to seventeen in 1900, but all of the seventeen were the result of mere mine operations, and none of them were from gas explosions or defective machinery, or from falls of top on the mine entries or haulways.

G. W. STONE, Inspector Mines.

The man who tears his garments increases his rents!

7,000 pounds of bullets and cartridges and many muskets were thrown into the abandoned well. The incident was forgotten until 1890, when some Virginians who visited Cumberland Gap thought of the old well. They had an excavation made and found the guns, cartridges and bacon, the last named being at the bottom. The man looked as well as the day it was thrown in the well, but it is rancid from old age and unfit to eat. The bacon and other things were distributed as souvenirs, and the specimen brought to town today was a piece of that dug from the old well after having been buried thirty-four years.

BY WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

Weather Bureau Hopes to be Able to Signal Ships 500 Miles or More at Sea.

New York, Feb. 8.—A special special from Washington says: A new system of wireless telegraphy has been developed by the Weather Bureau.

"It is a success," said Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Bureau. "We have been experimenting for a year at Cobb's Island, in the Potomac river, seventy miles below Washington.

"We have completed an apparatus that we expect will enable us to signal ships 500 miles or more out at sea. We shall soon send out ships equipped with receiving instruments. We have just completed a station at Roonoke, N. C., and will soon have stations at Hatteras and Cape Henry.

"We have succeeded in telegraphing perfectly with our wireless system for sixty miles over a rough country around Washington."

MULHATTON

To be Discharged From the Arizona Insane Asylum.

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 10.—In a few weeks the prevaricator of world-wide renown, Joseph Mulhatten, will be discharged from the Insane Asylum of Arizona, where he has been under restraint and care for several months. According to the superintendent, there is nothing much wrong with Joseph. He has a super-sensitive nervous system, and this is about all. He has had a quiet and peaceful existence at the asylum, with proper medical attention, and has lost about all delusions that brought him to the asylum. Jos has been "playing in hard luck" for several years. He drifted over to Florence where he helped edit the village weekly, and where he ran what he called a "mining exchange." Through a casual prospect he became interested in a gold claim in the Mineral Creek district, which he had the fortune to sell. Prosperity was unusual and proved almost too much for him. He went on a celebration that the old-timers will remember with admiration for many, and insisted that the town participate. Then he went to the asylum.

TRICKS OF BARNSTORMERS.

How They Are Sometimes Compelled to Help One Another Out.

"One of the old slang phrases of the stage," said Muggles, who used to be a good actor, was 'to pong.' This means, or used to mean, using your own language—that is, playing a part without cues of the proper lines, relying only upon a knowledge of the play to carry you through. Years ago on the road there used to be some highly ludicrous situations in consequence of a new play being produced in a hurry. The stage manager, however, had a wonderful genius for patching up a hitch. When circumstances were necessary, he would sometimes lower a front scene and tell the low comedian and chambermaid to go on and 'keep it up,' and while they did so he would arrange how the play had to be continued.

"Of course, actors are expected to help one another out of a difficulty, but at times old grudges were paid off. For instance, I remember on one occasion a letter had to be read in one scene. Unfortunately this letter could not be found, so a 'dummy'— that is, a blank sheet—was sent on the stage.

"Say, dad," said the actor who had to read the letter, seeing it blank, 'here's a letter for you. You had better read it yourself, as I am sure it contains good news.'

"But 'dad' tumbled to the occasion and replied: 'No, Tom, you read it, I've mislaid my spectacles.'

"Bless me," said Tom, 'it is written so badly I can't make out a word of it. Here, Nelly, you read it.'

"The unsuspecting Nelly takes the letter and seeing it blank says: 'No father had better read it. He will be able to make it out better. I'll go and fetch your spectacles. I know where they are.' And off she goes.

"The old man is again equal to the occasion and calls out to her: 'Never mind bringing them, Nelly. I'll come and get them.' Then he walked off and the stage manager had to rearrange the scene.

"Yes, sir; there's a lot in the theatrical business you outsiders never dream of."—New York Times.

Addison G. Cammack.

Addison G. Cammack, the famous Wall street financier, who died last week in New York, was born in Christian county, was lived at Hopkinsville until he was twenty-three years of age. His father was a blacksmith and died poor. Addison was a dull boy at school. He was a soldier in the Confederate army and was wounded at the battle of Shiloh. Afterward in New York he became a daring and successful speculator. Concerning his appearance at the beginning of his business career, Mr. H. C. Grant, President of the Bank of Hopkinsville, says:

"I remember him as though it was yesterday I saw him. He was all ankles and elbows, so tall that he towered above most of the young fellows in town, gawky and with homely but expressive features. His head was thatched with a mop of the reddest hair I believe I ever saw, and he was as freckled as a turkey egg."

The Chemistry of Soil.

"Undoubtedly one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern chemistry has to do with the soil," says the Saturday Evening Post. "It has been ascertained that the most barren land can be made rich simply by adding to it certain mineral elements which cost but little. On this basis it is estimated that the United States will be able eventually to maintain 500,000,000 people—more than one-third of the present population of the world. It is merely a question of supplying the requisite quantities of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. The last two are readily obtainable at small expense, whereas the first may be supplied either by furnishing to the soil condensed nitrogen in the shape of slaughter waste of nitrate of soda or by planting clover, beans or peas, which have an affinity for nitrogen is the most important plant food, and, inasmuch, as this element composes four-fifths of the atmosphere, the question is merely to absorb it into the soil. It has also come to be understood that only 2 per cent. of the material of plants is derived from the soil, the remaining 98 per cent. being drawn from the air and from water.

STRANGE STORY

Regarding the Keifer Murder Told by a Princeton (Ind.) Jail Inmate.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 12.—A special to the Sentinel from Princeton, Ind., says:

Ed Richardson, aged 25, a resident of Oakland City, Ind., who is in jail here, states that Joseph D. Keifer, now under sentence to be hanged for the murder of Nora Keifer, is not guilty, but that two other men are, and that she was killed by them April 11. Richardson lived at Elberfeld when she disappeared. He goes into details of an alleged confession to him.

Barbecue for the Conclave.

The Knights Templars are seriously considering the giving of an old-fashioned Kentucky barbecue as one of the numbers of the Triennial week program. It would be difficult for them to hit upon a happier idea in searching for novelties for the entertainment of outsiders. If the barbecue is to be given it is almost certain negotiations will be opened with Col. Gus Jaubert, of Lexington, the world-famous burgoon artist. Indeed, it has been stated that it would be less majestic, whatever they may mean, for any one to attempt to give a barbecue in Kentucky without the aid of Col. Jaubert.

"The Masonic."

It will be hardly possible for the Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons to have their new home completed by the Triennial Conclave, but it will be far enough advanced by the fourth week of August to show the thousands of Knights Templar then in the city that "The Masonic" will be a building worthy a place in the heart of the Gateway to the South. Grand Secretary Grant will have his office in "The Masonic," which will be the name of the new home of the Grand Lodge, and, of course, will move with him the large library. It is probable that an auditorium, with a seating capacity of 2,500, will be one of the features of the new building.—Louisville Evening Post.

Miss Gould as a Giver.

Among those women who have come into recent note by careful management of great wealth, is Miss Helen Miller Gould, a daughter of Jay Gould, and sister-in-law of the extravagant Count de Castellane. Miss Gould's work for the soldiers and sailors of the Spanish War is still fresh in the memory. Much that is unfamiliar regarding her gifts and her methods of giving is told by Mrs. Sarah K. Bolton in the March Deland. Miss Gould is one who dislikes notoriety and, therefore, one whose gifts often go unrecorded.

The Gus Sun American Minstrels.

The above company, traveling in their own private Pullman cars, numbering fifty people, with two great bands and symphony orchestra will appear at the Opera House tonight, for one performance only. The company ranks among the best on the road and is certainly worthy of a packed house. The beautiful spectacular transformation first part the superb music and the seven star feature olio acts go to make up the strongest and most elaborate minstrel performance that has ever been witnessed in our city. The scenery and music are alone worth more than the admission fee. Seats now on sale at St. Bernard Store. Prices 25c, 50c, and 1.00.

Gus Sun's Minstrels have made themselves forever solid with the people of Hillsboro. Not only is the company composed of first-class gaudium throughout, but all are first-class artists.—The Hillsboro, O., Press.

DIED FROM BURNS.

The Three-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Eastwood Dies After Much Suffering.

Ernest, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Eastwood, who recently moved here from Sebree, died Sunday morning at eleven o'clock from burns received last Thursday. The child was nearly three years old, and was in the habit of going into one of the rooms and playfully turning the lock, which was the case at this time. The mother hearing screams from the room in which the child had entered rushed to the door to find it locked, and was sometime in getting in the front window. She found the child then in flames, but as soon as possible, extinguished them. A physician was summoned and the child lived until Sunday. Elder J. W. Mitchell conducted the funeral service at the family residence Monday morning, and the little body was taken to Sebree for interment at eleven o'clock.

The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad misfortune. Misses Nell Rootz and Manie Barnett were among those who accompanied the family to Sebree with the remains.

The Sons of Jupiter.

"In the mythological accounts of Jupiter, we are told that it was the custom of the Gods to occasionally visit the earth and mingle in the daily life of mortals. These visits were periodically made by Jupiter, accompanied with his sons, from Mount Olympus, hence rites were performed or celebrated in their honor—the people assuming a garb or dress which was supposed to be in some accord with the style worn by the deities. From this custom originated the Olympian games, eleusinian mysteries and many other forms by which people were not only amused but instructed. In these visits the Gods did not exhibit their superior power, but imitated all the habits of mortals."

"The Sons of Jupiter" will be produced by Victoria Lodge, K. of P. The following members will take part, assisted by joint membership: W. O. Troy, John Twyman, W. A. Keown, Lee Jackson, Charles Cowell, Theodore Watts, John Arranman, M. Magenheimer, M. Sisk, J. Phillips, Joe Brown, Charles Mayhew, Charles Webb, W. C. McLeod, W. F. Burr. Music by Mrs. W. S. McGary.

Literary Meeting.

The Literary Department of the Epworth League held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. John Rule last Monday evening. The study for the evening was "The Life and Writings of John Ruskin." The program was very interesting, each member responding in turn. Mrs. John Rule, in her biography and various articles were rendered. The latter portion of the evening was spent in social games, which proved to be the most pleasant feature of the evening, as the members of the League are so young and full of life.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

The persons composing the Dramatic Company feel very gratified indeed towards dispatcher Sheridan, who so kindly had No. 54 stop for them at Martins Gap last Saturday night.

A short delay to the Providence train was caused last Monday at Madisonville by the local engine jumping from the track.

Section foreman Edmundson and Burns have been so far recovered from their late illness as to be able to again resume work.

President Smith, of the L. & N., has lately written the Henderson city official about the important improvements contemplated there. Such as the raising of the bridge, the approach and the new union depot. He promises to give these questions his prompt attention.

Section foreman Dave Deering is now located permanently at Manlington.

Section foreman Robt. Hughlett is now in charge of the new work being made repairs on the Barnely coal tracks.

The rumor is afloat that former Superintendent Martin, since he went west, became engaged in a quarrel with one of the trainmen, who being a better man physically, came out winner in the bout. Can it be possible that after having spent a good portion of his life in Kentucky that he goes west to be done up by a railroad cowboy?

The New York Chronicle says on railroad consolidations:

"Why is it, we repeat, that combinations and consolidations of railroad properties are the prominent feature in stock-exchange circles today, and how can these movements be checked? The reason that railroad combinations are such a prominent feature is that legislation at Washington and in the States has so far hampered the roads that they are driven into these devices to preserve their properties. Take the federal legislation, for illustration.

First, the roads are thereby prevented from making any rates; that is to say, they cannot enforce any unless they conform to the views of the commissioners. Second, when they get their rates established and these commissioners say they are fair, the roads cannot uphold them, because one road, then another, will out them, concealing the act as long as possible by paying rebates, until it fully wins being done is discovered, and a war of rates becomes a necessity.

"An obvious remedy for preventing these chaotic occurrences would naturally be an agreement between the roads to stand by each other, but this has been tried in every form and manner, until decisions of the court of last resort have determined that nothing of the kind is allowable, because not only does the interstate commerce law prohibit rebates, but the federal trust law also provides that every sort of an agreement between the roads affecting rates is illegal. Nor do these by any means cover every antagonistic phase in the railroad situation. Mention one other hostile proceeding—the building of new roads or branches parallel and directly competing with the old lines, which is allowed in most of the States; that is to say, though minimum rates are required by federal and State railroad commissioners, new facilities for cutting those rates and black-mailing the old roads are permitted by State law."

He went a little farm way up in the province, and had a daughter in Boston, that is, practically in Boston, for she lived with her husband in Bedford. He had come to her home for a short visit, and had just arrived.

After the usual greetings, the daughter inquired as to the health of her mother, who had not accompanied the father on his journey southward.

"Was," he answered, "mother is a strong heart, but she has been ill, but she is well now for six months."

"I suppose," that you telegraphed her, telling her of your safe arrival, didn't you?" queried the daughter.

"No," said the old man, slowly, "but I thought of it. I never sent a telegram. Where is the office?"

"Right in the railroad station. You can step over and send one now if you wish to," was the reply.

"Was," perhaps you were best, and with that he went out. Straight to the telegraph office he went, and on arriving was furnished with a blank by the operator, on which he soon wrote his message. He then paid for the dispatch and went out on the platform.

As the operator was not busy at the time, he at once put the proper connection and it was the message off, letter for letter. Then he stuck it on a long spindle which hung on the wall.

After about half an hour the old gentleman again entered the office. "When are you going to send that dispatch?" he asked.

"I sent it some time ago," was the reply.

"No you haven't," exclaimed the indignant provincial, "I see of hangin' on the book; on, besides, I've been watchin' the wires for half an hour."—Boston Journal.

Pro-union business men of Canada have agreed to undertake the organization of a joint stock company for the purpose of constructing a railroad from Cadiz to connect with the Ohio branch of the Illinois Central or the Clarksville branch of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. They propose to raise $50,000.

Card of Thanks.

The Earlington Dramatic Company desire to return their sincere thanks to the citizens of Martins Gap for their liberal patronage, good order and kind reception tendered them last Saturday night. Especially do they feel grateful to those who honored the club by granting the use of the Christian Church, and to Miss Clara Grady, Mike Cain, F. B. Harris, Will Klamms, James Blanks, Ben T. Robinson and Thos. Steele and others. We feel very grateful indeed for their untiring efforts in securing us a fine audience, and also to the organist, Mrs. Thos. Steele we feel under lasting obligation.

EARLINGTON DRAMATIC CLUB.

Special Railroad Rates to Louisville. The various railroads in the State have granted a rate of one and one-third fare, on the certificate plan, to delegates attending the Twentieth Annual State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kentucky. Delegates must pay full fare going, and must secure Connection Certificate from the ticket agent when they purchase their tickets at starting point. These will be countersigned by the Secretary of the Convention, and entitle the holders to secure a return ticket at one-third. Delegates unable to purchase through tickets to Louisville must secure certificates at each purchasing point.

The regular passenger train will be run on the K. W. into Dixon as soon as the new depot in that city is completed. The first freight train will leave there in our local line of two cars of tobacco stems, which were shipped to Virginia.

The Southern Cotton Spinners Association meet at Charlotte, N. C., Saturday.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

We believe it wrong for the government to allow one of its officials to come to this county and lead a help up hand toward the breaking down of the industries of the county. It is not in keeping with the principles of the party under whose authority they labor. To build up all industries is strongly advocated by the party of expansion and protection. It is not in keeping with the teachings of the party which favors the building up rather than the tearing down, and a protection in business, and a protection arm thrown around those who labor to foster the industries of the country. And we are sorry to say that one of those fellows came here a few days ago and could find nothing but abuse to heap upon the operators who would dare assert their rights in the light of the law.

From the article he quoted it has been seen how the president of the U. M. W. Workers tries to mislead the people in his report; his object evidently being to create the impression among the reading public that the order he represented was very kind to those who had by his orders, been thrown into idleness. Reading the letter, and see what a blessing it is to be placed upon the mercy of such an organization.

"JENNY LIND, ARK., Feb. 2, 1901."

"Editor Mine Workers Journal: "In your issue of Jan. 24, Brother Mitchell, in his report touching of the Southwest strike, states that we were given an opportunity by the organization to be removed to union mines; but some of us owning property and plots of land refused to leave. Consequently, Local 461, at our last meeting, delegated me to write to the Journal and contradict this statement."

"Therefore, to the Brothers everywhere: "No snob a proposition was ever made, and we are at a loss to know how this expression was carried on in the brain of our respected President. God only knows it's hard enough to be on the firing line for 20 months without getting insulted. Yes, Brothers; it would be very hard for us to get up and leave our property—property that's built with our own hands out of chicken-coops and cowsheds after we were evicted from the company's houses. Brothers, I have been in many struggles in my lifetime, but a more heroic set of people, a more sacrificing people, and a more patient people could not be found than are in District 21."

"They went into the woods—men and women—with their families; they lived in shacks, but they had the canopy of heaven; others built a shelter with boards from their cowsheds and chicken-coops; others, with poles and quilts, lived on 25 cents a week. I have seen men go with their children five or six miles to gather potatoes, and all of them make only 50 or 75 cents. Say, who would refuse to leave such legacies? I have known brothers to go to the District Secretary's office and beg for transportation to Illinois or elsewhere, it was denied them."

THE BEE has many times called the attention of the miners to the fact that the head, or rather the numerous leaders, of the U. M. W. Workers take advantage of the lesser lights and those who provide the means upon which they live like kings. Such conduct as this can be seen right here in Hopkins county, but it also extends to the higher ranks of the order, and below we reproduce a letter from one of the "faithful," who feels he has been and is being imposed upon. Just think of the extravagance here shown, and then turn to the poor striker in Arkansas, who is forced to live upon twenty-five cents per week!

BELVILLE, ILL., Feb. 5, 1901. "Editor Mine Workers Journal: "In looking over the Journal, I take notice of a few things of which I wish to comment on. I find by looking over Secretary Wilson's report that the U. M. W. of A. are being taxed without being represented. I do not believe in our head officials donating to other trade union strikes at our national treasury. I think each local union is capable of handling their own money in that direction, as we are receiving correspondence very often from other trade unions, and hence donate lots of money in that way."

"Another thing I would like to call the attention of our National Executive Board members to, and that is those photographs they had taken and paid $20 out of our national treasury; and also, photo frames. I don't object to their having their 'mug' taken, if they wish, for they make more money than miners do, but I don't like to help pay for them when I am not able to have my family's picture taken. Now there are other things I will not notice, where the miners are forced to pay. This, I say, is a forced pay. This, I say, is a taxation without representation.

"I know our officials, and some of the members, will take offense at this letter, but they are no better to the offenders than I am. It is true they have done good work, for which they have, and should be, remunerated; but we don't want them to think that they are our gods, or we don't want them to be made kings. We, too, have done good work, and sacrificed our homes, and many have sacrificed their lives. I know I will never gain back what I have lost for the union at $3.50 per day."

From the iron ore and the coal in the mines to the finished ships in the ship yards, some $50,000,000 are spent each year to keep up the shipping required for the carriage of American foreign commerce, but about 95 per cent. of this goes into British pockets, just now.

How appropriate, indeed, it is that the U. M. W.'s should select for one of their organizers a man whose fate (for his wife was so great that—if reports be true—he allowed her to die in a poor-house, where she was sent for lack of supplies of the necessities of life. The direct result of the operation of this order has, in thousands of cases, been the same. Many poor miners have been placed on the paupers' list by their action, and we don't have to leave Hopkins county for evidence of the wife of one of our vol-punt miners was sent out among "warmer friends on a begging tour."

her husband having "thrown up a job" to join the 800 city of idlers who are now making the rounds of this country, doing all in their power—whether interested or not—to reduce the wives and children of those who join them to a state of penury. If reports are true—and we have excellent reasons to believe they are true—a man whose fate, a year ago, sent his wife to a pauper's list, is now classed by the U. M. W. of this county as "one of the faithful." That they, the U. M. W.'s, are ashamed of their cause was an evident fact of this order. At Morton's, where one of the agitators who professed to be a minister of the gospel was found sowing seeds of discord, and confronted with the charge of being a disturber among the miners, bitterly denied the same.

One who claims to be a judge of human nature says he can pick out a U. M. W. by his looks, they having the appearance of a class of beings engaged in a conspiracy to pull down and debase the laboring man.

Secretary George C. Atkinson was called to Nashville last week on business of importance. Supp. Harris of the South Diamond mine says the U. M. W.'s understand that they are not wanted on the St. Bernard premise at that place, and that they are, therefore, very careful that his wishes are respected, rather than force a charge of trespass.

Mining Engineer Norwood says he kept very busy by the St. Bernard Co., surveying in and out of the mines.

If that St. Charles miner would have paid more attention to the good old saying, "Let well enough alone," he would today be happier. It seems that at that place, if rumors be true, a man who made as high as $42 in twelve days' work in the mines was induced to do some truckers, but along with the beefsteak, were missing, and came back with tears in his eyes, asking forgiveness for his bad act in becoming a member of the U. M. W.'s, the officials over there believe the best interests of the company demand the enforcement of a strict discipline; and the fellow left, a sadder but wiser man.

WANTED—PROVISIONS, and other necessities of life, from former prosperous miner, who recently lost his home and joined the band of U. M. W.'s. This man, his employer says, was making good wages when at work in the mines, himself and family being well provided for; but now he feels like a ruined man, both in mind and body.

Facts and figures tell the tale, and every miner in Hopkins county can verify the truth of the statements made in THE BEE last week and the week before as regards the production of coal in this county and the increase of same. Every lover of labor should rejoice in the great showing made.

A friend overheard a conversation at Nortonville between some U. M. W. Workers. One asked another, "How are things progressing at Madisonville?" The answer was, that it looked like up there for the order. And why should it not? Agitators were sent to this county, evidently believing that our miners were of a poor, ignorant class, and that they would prey upon us in Pennsylvania, and would at one take the yoke upon themselves; but in this

WHAT IS OVARIITIS?

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation. On examination it will be found that the region of the pelvis shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the result of your better looks, your mind is troubled, it is all at once; why not try the same respect to your own body?

You need not, you ought not to let yourself go, when one of your own sex holds out the helping hand to you, and will strive to help you without money, and without price. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your symptoms.

her experience in treating female ailments is greater than any other living person. Following is a letter from a woman who is thankful for avoiding a terrible operation. "I was suffering so much an extent from ovarian trouble that my physician thought an operation would be necessary. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound having been recommended to me, I decided to try it. After using several bottles I found that I was cured. My entire system was toned up, and I suffered no more with my ovaries."—Mrs. ANNA WESTON, Troy, Mo.

they were disappointed; for here, in this country, they mean an intelligent set of miners—men who are well posted. If not letter, then the "walking delegate" upon all questions pertaining to labor; so, their cry for recruits fell upon deaf ears; hence the case of "blues" with which they now suffer.

This BEE would like to hear of other records in any and all lines of mine work made by the miners of Hopkins county.

It is currently reported that the youth of Barnely have been having much sport at the expense of a young man there, who still wears knickerbockers. The father of a family of girls, whom the boys have been going to tease, sent to the young fellow: "Lad, you'll have to get you a pair of long pants, if you come here to see my girls." Hence the laugh. But the "long pants" and other grown-up things will come soon enough, and the girls will not all be gone then.

One man, who recently joined the union, and who had been used to living on the fat of the land, went down to draw his first ration and was offered a half-pint of dried beans and nothing more. There was no money put on top of the measure to make the beans taste better.

A GREAT WASTE.
We saw over 5,000 tons of hay in the stack, tame and wild, during a trip across the country lately. Every ton of this hay which is not spoiled is worth $7 in the stack. Of the large number of so-called stacks of hay, these two stacks had about 20 tons apiece in them, were well and symmetrically built, carefully topped off after they had settled and were in shape to keep hay as well as it is possible to keep it outside of a barn. The rest of this large lot of valuable forage was piled up in all sorts of imaginable shapes in low flat piles containing a couple of tons and up, the best cared for of the lot giving a loss of from 20 to 30 per cent. Every dollar an acre loses does not give much profit when used in this manner.

MORAL RISKS IN FARMERS' INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The moral hazard associated with the insurance of policies on farm property by farmers' mutual insurance companies is not considered so important factor as it is with other ordinary lines of insurance business. Still, it should not be wholly ignored, for there are some moral degenerates busy milking cows and feeding pigs on the country just as there are apostates in the cities seeking insurance on a stock of hand me tools. Two or three cases which have come to our notice illustrate in a plain way the native ingratitude displayed by the granger in working; his brother grangers in this matter of mutual insurance. One collected the value of a lot of hay from a railway company whose engine caused the fire and then turned round and collected the value of the hay a second time from the farmers' insurance company of which he was a member, another got the renewal of his policy dated back by a local agent so as to cover a loss sustained, and a third was able to swap an old house for a new one by a way that were not open to most men. The fact that honesty is very largely a question of opportunity with far too many men in both country and town.

RESULT OF CANTEN CLOSING.

Soldiers Get Drunk Outside of Army Post and Almost a Murder Result.
Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—The Tribune says:
"One of the results of the closing of the canten at Fort Wayne was witnessed yesterday by a row among soldiers and officers of the fort, after a drinking bout in one of the neighborhood saloons. Yesterday, after receiving their pay, a number of the soldiers had indulged freely in liquor late, while in quarters, a quarrel resulted. Private Jones, who was said to have been under the influence of liquor, quarreled with one of his comrades, who slashed him under the right arm with a razor. Jones knocked his assailant down with a blow, he then went to an outside surgeon and had four stitches taken in his wound, while his assailant was attended by the post surgeon. Both men were under arrest."

ANOTHER BIG GUSHER.

Everybody in the Oil Field of Indiana Gets Oil Mad Over a Big Strike.
Hartford City, Ind., Feb. 12.—All day yesterday and to-day there has been great excitement here among the speculators owing to the great strike on the Joseph Bird farm in Washington township, six miles northwest from Hartford City. The well has flowed at more than seven barrels a day, it is bringing its owner a daily income of $5,000, and has already received five acres of land with petroleum.

Everybody is oil mad. Never in the history of the Indiana oil field has there been such excitement as to-day.

MONEY PACKAGES WIXED.

Bank Officials in New York and Chicago Had a Bad Half Hour Monday.

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND WAS MISSING.

After a lively interchange it was discovered that packages for St. Louis and Chicago had, by a strange coincidence, been sent to the wrong destination.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The Tribune says:

The several hours' anxiety, which was in Chicago and New York, over a treaty of excitement over the disappearance and supposed robbery of $25,000 from a package in currency in transit to this city from the western metropolis.

Only Half the Sum Expected.

The money package had been ordered by a Chicago bank from a banking house in New York, the shipment being made through an express company. When the package reached its destination here it was found to contain only the $25,000 ordered, and which the invoice letter credited as having been sent, but only $12,500, one half the sum for which the Chicago banking house was expected to acknowledge by formal written receipt.

The Seals Were Intact.

There was no sign that the sealing wax on the package had been tampered with, while the mail address which arrived in the morning made it plain that $25,000 had been sent.

The officials of the Chicago bank refused to receipt for the package, informed the express company of the shortage and notified the bank in New York.

The Error Located.

After a lively interchange of telephone and telegraph messages between this city and New York a telegram was received by the cashier of the Chicago bank advising him to re-ship the $25,000 to a bank in St. Louis. This message was at once taken as affording an explanation of the mystery, it being taken for granted that the $25,000 ordered by the Chicago bank had been sent to the St. Louis concern and that the $25,000 found was intended for the St. Louis bank.

KANSAS WOMEN AROUSED.

They Turn Out in Force at a Primary Election—The Saloons Closed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 12.—The primary election in Kansas City, Kan., yesterday, was remarkable because of the activity of the women voters. Eighteen hundred women registered this year to vote at the primaries, and many others voted yesterday, who registered last year and were not required to re-register. Many women clerks were in evidence at the election booths. The saloons were closed during the progress of the primaries.

HAZING AT WEST POINT

The Report of the Special Committee of Congress Presented to the House.

THE DOCUMENT IS AN EXHAUSTIVE ONE.

Its Tone Is Moderate but Emphatic, the Keynote Being the Conclusion that Brutal Hazing and Fighting Must Be Banished from the Academy at All Hazards.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The report of the special congressional committee which investigated the hazing of Cadet Booz and the general subject of hazing at West Point was submitted to the house of representatives by the chairman of the committee, Representative Dick, with a bill making stringent regulations against hazing, fighting and all brutal practices.

An Exhaustive Review.

The report is an exhaustive review of the practice of hazing in all its forms, and while moderate in tone, is nevertheless a stinging arraignment of the many alleged brutal practices enumerated. It specifies more than 100 distinct methods of annoying and harassing a fourth-class man, and describes them in detail. One of the "many formations" described is that practiced on Philip Sheridan, Jr., who was compelled to ride a brownish, "in mockery of his illustrious father's achievement at Winchester." The report states that a system of fighting has grown up which is shocking in its character. The fights are described, and the committee states that the West Point code is more vicious than the Queensberry rules.

The Worst Form of Hazing.

The committee held that fighting is the worst form of hazing. The report says that such fighting as that at West Point is a felony, according to the statutes in many of the states, and the time has come when congress must decide whether fights, which are held elsewhere, shall continue.

The committee finds that Cadets MacArthur, Bretz and Burton were hazing into convulsions, others were hazing until they fainted, while others were hazing until they were sick.

Cases of Booz and Bretz.

The hazing of Cadets Booz and Bretz are not only mentioned, but the committee does not attribute their deaths directly to hazing. The report adds:

"While we cannot set up hazing the responsibility for these two deaths, the possibility that it hastened them and the blot it throws on the otherwise fair and glorious record of the academy, its conflict with proper training and discipline, and the adoption of reasonable, yet well-considered measures for its eradication and the promotion of discipline in the academy."

The Bill Against Hazing.

The bill submitted contains eleven sections against hazing and provides means for its detection and punishment. Dismissal is provided for taking part in a fight or a challenge, directly or indirectly, or for any form of annoying, harassing or braiding of cadets. Cadets dismissed are made ineligible to appointment to the army or the marine corps. Provision is made for courts of inquiry, courts martial, closer association between officers and cadets, and other means for effecting stopping the practice of hazing.

Every Car Was Demolished.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 12.—The Chesapeake & Ohio fast passenger train, east-bound, was wrecked last night six miles east of here, every car being derailed and the baggage car and day coach being thrown down a 40-foot embankment. The mail car was smashed. The dining car was thrown from the track, but the occupants of this and the two Pullman were unhurt. Strangely enough but three persons were hurt.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

COURT CASES.

GILLILAND—We are authorized to announce John K. Gilliland, of Italy, France, President of a dress St. Charles, a candidate for Congress, subject to the action of the Republican party.

THE Kentucky judicial bill has been signed by the President and is now a law. The scramble for places is still on and no appointments have been made.

THE Triennial Conclave edition of the Louisville Evening Post, issued Monday, is the handsomest thing that has appeared since Tax Bess's Special Col. Edition. It will be treasured by Knights Templar throughout the State.

THE Governor of Ohio proposes to make the prizefighters bite the dust and the sports Nash their teeth. He says he will have his way and prevent that Cincinnati prize-fight if he has to use the whole military power of the State. It is said orders have been issued to have two or more regiments in readiness to prevent the fight that is announced for Friday night.

It is a peculiar fact, if the report be true, and it comes from reliable source, that the president of a little miners' local union in this county, who don't work in the mines because he wants shorter hours and higher wages, has been working for 50 cents for a ten hour day's work, or 5 cents an hour. What do men not sometimes sacrifice for a little brief authority.

KENTUCKY has a record as being first in various movements for the benefit of mankind as well as possessing some unenviable qualifications. Various munificent and magnificent charities have taken their origin in Kentucky, grown in strength and influence and reproduced in many of her sister States. Among the chief of these is the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home at Louisville; and Kentucky's lend in this great charity is to be emphasized this year by the coming of the Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar to the city of Louisville—the greatest of Masonic gatherings known to the world. Since Kentucky Masons formed their Home, many other States have followed the noble example and established similar institutions.

Among other charities originating in Kentucky and extending to other States a recent publication calls our attention to the Louisville Home for Discharged Criminals, established for the purpose of making self-respecting men of ex-convicts. News comes of establishment of a like institution in Iowa by the Iowa Benevolent Association. The success of the Louisville home for discharged criminals is widely known.

A GLANCE at the news columns of THE BEE will show a lively and growing interest in various social activities, all planned for the pleasure and improvement of the participants and the good of the community. It is restful to turn from the routine of business, the daily work of bread-winners, the demagoguery of petty politicians, the envy and jealousy of men, the viciousness of meddlers and law-breakers, to the contemplation of these efforts to brighten the life and soften the heart and illuminate the pathway of the community. The good women of Earlinton are, of course, the principals in most of these matters. There is the cooking club, in which a number of the budding young ladies are cultivating very successfully the gentle art that will some day turn out of doors of new homes the Jack Spratt ideas of existence, and sweeten the temper of the fortunate men with wholesome culinary products, delicately served.

Among the young people—the girls and boys—are certain clubs which have the highest moral aims and are sowing the seed of future soundness and righteousness of life in the youth of our community. The work of the Christian Endeavor and of the Epworth League, both forces in the fight for higher morals and more careful living, is emphasized weekly by well-attended gatherings, with attractive religious, literary and social programs.

There are clubs for innocent amusement, dramatic and amusement clubs to raise funds to help along and beautify the new theatre auditorium, where our people will gather in years to come for a bright evening of rational recreation and social intercourse. In the strictly religious lines the churches and Sunday-schools seem to grow in strength and influence. The county work of the Young Men's Christian Association promises to touch more closely the lives of young men of Earlinton.

"If we had time," which generally means if we would take time, we could contribute our mite of influence to the furtherance of all these good things, and get out of them a corresponding amount of good for ourselves and our own.

Earlington, as well as other county towns, needs waking up along these lines—and Earlinton seems to be stirring. The world is not all bad and may be made better in our own and our neighbor's houses, if we will all take part and help only a little in the movements and activities that present themselves to us daily, with the good of mankind here and hereafter for their aim.

The New York Times arraigns Mr. Bryan for an ignorance of the British constitution "that would cause his prompt discharge from the service of any respectable newspaper in the United States in which he might have been inadvertently permitted to exhibit it." Mr. Bryan, however, has his own newspaper and can be as ignorant as he pleases without danger of discharge. If Mr. Bryan would freshen up his knowledge about the constitution of his own country, it would gratify many.—Louisville Commercial.

Pneumonia Can Be Prevented.

This disease always results from a cold or an attack of the grip, and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. That remedy was extensively used during the epidemic of a gripe of the past few years, and not a single case has ever been reported that did not recover or that relapsed a pneumonia, which shows it to be a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. Tutt's Liver Pills Thorough Consideration of the Character of our Prayers.

If you had a friend to whom you never went but to ask for something and if your visits to your friend were made not once, but twice, or even often every day, what do you suppose your friend would think of you? What, indeed, in such a case, ought you to think of yourself? Nothing, surely, that would be very flattering to your self respect. And yet there are multitudes who never go to God except for favors, who never approach Him but as beggars and supplicants. Their prayers are better than no prayers, for the infinite mercy is unwearying by our sorrows and weakness. But how incalculably much is lost by failure to recognize prayer as the opportunity for communion, as of sons with the loving Father, for absorption, during however brief a space, into the divine nature, whence to emerge with spirits chastened, purified, unhardened. Alas! the more prayer of mendicancy we shall not know, but there is joy unspeakable in the prayer of fellowship.—Examiner.

Bibles For the Heathen.

Over 5,000,000 copies of the Bible were sold by the British and Foreign Bible society last year. This is an increase of 1,000,000 over the sales of the year before, says a London newspaper. Sixty thousand "pairs" of the Testament were printed and bound for the use of the troops in South Africa. But for this number the sale of Bibles in England has remained for two years at 2,000,000 copies. The missionaries are responsible for the additional million in the output. The heathen has more Bibles than ever before. Most of the books were printed in China and in Chinese characters. Many were printed in Hindoostanee. If the present rate of increase is kept up each Bible sold represents a converted heathen, the world may be all Christian about two centuries hence.

The Value of Mathematics.

Unless there is a reserve of enthusiasm stored up in the hills the humbler wheel cannot be driven in the valley. He who contributes just this one more thing—self-sacrificing devotion—to his cause has done his part. Six hundred English dragons once received a foolish order and rode to their death like heroes. "Magnificent," said a French general, "but not war." It was magnificent, and perhaps it was war, for it fired the imagination of England and raised the standard of duty for a century. One who can plan is good. Far better is the man who can stimulate. History affords at every turn some memorable fortress that was the despair of the wise and prudent, but was carried by some enthusiast with a rush. He cast his reputation, his life, his all into the breach, and his body made the bridge over which the race has entered into its heritage.—Jan Maclean.

Disappointed Longings.

Sometimes I long to roam at once Over the hills of heaven's land; Sometimes I sigh for the Master's grove And to grasp just now the life that's gone. Yet I sometimes fear, when the days grow dark, That I'll not see "long the way," And "I wish my Father would take me home" At these times I, sometimes, say: But the Master says to my longing soul: "I've a realm both grand and sweet. I'll breathe the air, and I'll see the sun Of my longed-for going day." —Thomas C. Ballantine in Public Ledger.

NEBO NOTES.

Local and Personal Items Gathered by our Nebo Correspondent.

GRIP AN UNWELCOME VISITOR.

The only news we can promise this week is something about the grippe. If you can tell me the exact number of inhabitants of Nebo, we can tell you how many cases of grip we have.

Mark Corbin, of the Rose Creek neighborhood, is very sick with pneumonia, but little hope is entertained of his recovery.

Jim Hartman has been quite sick, but is able to be up again. Jim says that if there is any fun in the grip, he failed to see it.

Uncle John Langley is down with the grip.

"Oris" Hoffman had more grip than any one else, because it took more to do him.

Aunt Hannah Hill has been quite sick, but is slowly recovering.

Quarterly meeting at Nebo Saturday. Elder Hayes was present and as usual did some able preaching.

Rev. B. H. McMeen will preach at the C. P. Church next Saturday and Sunday. Everybody invited.

John W. Bone, of Madisonville, came down Saturday to attend the Masonic Lodge Saturday night. He returned Monday morning.

Uncle Alfred Cox is soving his country on the grand jury this week.

Bob Morrow and Al Barnett went to Madisonville last week on business private, personal and political.

H. R. Cox sold goods Saturday at Union. Quite a crowd was in attendance and prices received were satisfactory.

Rudakey & Morrow will move into their new store this week. They have a nice house and we hope they will do well in their new quarters.

Tom Knox, who has been in California this winter, has accepted a position in Bob Walker's grocery store. Tom is an old hand at the business and knows exactly how to drive 'em.

There will be an entertainment at the courthouse tonight. It is to be an illustrated temperance lecture we understand, but as they failed to send us a "complimentary" we will not give them a "write-up."

Owing to so much dry weather and grip, but little tobacco has been delivered, consequently but little is being done in the factories, but if the present weather continues a few days longer, times will even up.

The chicken buyer was here last week, but owing to low prices and bad weather, but very few were brought in.

Noah Day has sold, signed, sealed and delivered his sawmill, and says he is out of the business to stay.

Our loading club still continues to flourish. They meet in daily session around Cris Hoffman's store and begin by "spitting" tobacco juice on the stove. After that has been done to the satisfaction of all pipes are produced and lighted and the room filled with smoke. That some people are so sensitive that the scent of tobacco smoke makes them sick. What care we if they do not like it, let them go somewhere else, and as for us, we would make Mark Twain, Bill Nye, Bob Burdett, Josh Billings or any of the celebrated wits, hide their heads in shame. We know more about farming than the most successful farmer in Kentucky, more about law than all the lawyers in Madisonville combined and as for politics, McKinley, Bryan, Carlisle, or any of that ilk are only beginners and should come to us to learn. As to the mining troubles of our country we are more than confident that we could adjust the whole thing in a short time. The only thing that is strange to us is that our mastery abilities have been not recognized and been called on to adjust all these matters. True, we sometimes get in Cris' way and he wishes us at home or some other place to warm, then they will have nothing else to do but to buy goods when they come in.

There are two more classes that we have been requested to pay our compliments to, but we refrain for this time, but look out you will hear from them.

Resticks.

An estimate places this season's French wheat crop at $12,000,000 bushels, which compares with last year's officially reported crop of $10,000,000 bushels.

G. A. Roberts of Lintner, Ill., suffered four years with a bad case of stomach and could not eat. He lost 25 pounds. Two bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin restored his appetite, cured his stomach trouble, and today he is well and hearty and says he owes his health to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Relative to the Corn Crop. "Viewing the landscape over, it brings to a disinterested judgment the fact that the increased population and the naturally increased consumption of corn throughout the world has overtaken the production," says the Toledo Market Report. "It is tolerably clear that the crop of 1899 was practically consumed, and there is evidence daily of increased feeding in this country and a cash demand that, so far, has rendered credit unnecessary. The crop matured in a dry, fine condition and the movement has been large."

Will Kimmons' new cottage on the corner of Main Avenue and Railroad street is nearing completion. It is a handsome and convenient building and when completed will be quite an addition to the street.

Marion McCord, who has been seriously ill, and whose life was almost despaired of, is much better and is now able to be up.

Mr. Thomas Ryan and family left this week for Memphis, Tenn., where Mr. Ryan has been for several weeks past, working on a railroad running out of that city.

John Klump, of New Mexico, is in Hopkins county on a visit to relatives. He visited the family of his nephew, M. B. Long, a few days this week, and brought him among other relics the head of a beautiful deer, which he had killed in one of his hunts. Mr. Klump is a typical Westerner, and a very entertaining conversationalist.

How to Cure the Grip.

Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed and a quick recovery is sure to follow. That remedy counteracts any tendency of the grip to result in pneumonia, which is really the only serious danger. Among the tens of thousands who have used for the grip not one case has ever been reported that did not recover. Endorsed by St. Bernard drug store, Earlington; Ben T. Robinson, Morton's Gap; Geo. King, St. Charles.

Died at Nebo.

Mr. Mark Corbin, of the Nebo country, died yesterday, Wednesday morning, February 13, 1901 at his home. Rev. B. M. Currie was called from here to preach the funeral which will be at 11 o'clock this morning. Mr. Corbin was a farmer and one of the substantial members of the M. E. Church, South, well known and highly esteemed, and leaves a wife and seven children.

John Powers Not in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 12.—A search of all the departments of this Commonwealth fails to confirm the story that John L. Powers, who is under indictment in connection with the Guebel assassination, is in the employ of the State of Pennsylvania. All the officials who could be seen deny the story.

Doc Potter, a negro crazed with drink, probably fatally beat his wife with a gun barrel at Elktion, knocked another woman senseless, and then pointing at her, his clothes, applied a match. He, too, will probably die.

Jas. L. Jennings, of Dalton county, was in Earlington yesterday on his way to Morcone Gap, and White Plains and called on Tim Bar while in the city.

SALT RHEUM CURED BY Johnston's Sarsaparilla QUART BOTTLES.

JUST BEEN IN TIME.

Most skin eruptions are a warning of something more serious to come. The only safe way is to find the cause. Johnston's Sarsaparilla is the most powerful blood purifier known.

Nature, in her efforts to correct mistakes, which mistakes have come from an unclean living, or it may be from ancestors, shoots out pimples, blotches and other imperfections on the skin, as a warning that more serious troubles (perhaps tumors, cancers, erysipelas or pulmonary diseases) are certain to follow if you neglect to heed the warning and correct the mistakes.

Many a lingering, painful disease and many an early death has been avoided simply because these signs of warning have been heeded and the blood kept pure by a right use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA.

Miss Abbie J. Randle, of Marshall, Mich., writes:

"I was cured of a bad humor after suffering with it for five years. The doctors and my friends said it was salt rheum. It came out on my head, neck and ears, and then on my whole body. I was perfectly raw with it. What I suffered during those five years, is no use telling. Nobody would believe me if I did. I tried every medicine that was advertised to cure it. I spent money enough to buy a house. I heard JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA highly praised. I tried a bottle of it. I began to improve right away, and when I had finished the third bottle I was completely cured. I have never had a touch of it since. I never got any thing to do use the least good till I tried JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. I would heartily advise all who are suffering from humors or skin diseases of these signs of warning have been heeded and the blood kept pure by a right use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA."

The blood is your life and if you keep it pure and strong you can positively resist disease or face contagion fearlessly. JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA never fails. It is for sale by all druggists, in quart bottles at only one dollar each.

For Sale by St. Perrard Drugstore, Earlington, Ky.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VII, FIRST QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, FEB. 17.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvi, 17-30. Memory Verses, 20-22—Golden Text, Luke xxi, 19—Commentary Prepared by the Rev. D. M. Stewart.

[Copyright, 1903, by American Press Association.]

17. "Where wilt thou that we prepare thee to eat the passover?" According to Luke xxi, 8, He had said to Peter and John, "Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat," and then they asked Him, "Where wilt thou?" This question which they asked, with Paul's question, "What wilt thou?" (Acts i, 6) should be often in our hearts, with an honest look to Him. We need testimony to this attitude, "We have no might, neither have we what to do, but our eyes are upon Thee," and this also, "Help us, O Lord, our God, for we rest on Thee, and in Thy name we go" (11 Cor. xii, 3; xiv, 11). We should always be able to say, "For Thee, and that which is not for Him we should be willing to do alone. Thee, O Lord, for Thy pleasure."

18. "The Master saith, my time is at hand; I will keep the passover with you, and with my disciples." This He instructed them to say to a certain man whom they would meet as they went out of the city—a man bearing a pitcher of water; thus they would recognize Him. He said, "I will keep the passover with you in the way which thou shalt go; I will guide thee with Mine eye" (Ps. xlii, 9). This, He said, was the way, Isa. xxi, 21; xlii, 17; xlii, 1. It should give us great comfort concerning our walking through wilderness, that we are on earth for one who careth for us in all the details of our life, and most assuredly in all the details of our death. He has prepared for us to walk in (1 Pet. v, 2; Eph. i, 10).

19. "And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them, and they made ready the passover." Mark and Luke both say that the disciples found an ass had been used to them. All this Jesus had said in the Scriptures, and if we were teachable and would receive His word with meekness we might hear the Spirit say, "I will show thee that which is noted in the Scriptures of the Old Testament. The disciples knew naught of the significance of the lamb and the shed blood, the bitter herbs, and the unleavened bread, all of which spoke of Him who said, "Go and prepare us the passover," and who was Himself our passover? (1 Cor. v, 7.)

20-22. "Verily, I say unto you that one of you shall betray Me." When even was come, He sat down with the twelve, and at the passover He said many things, among others, that He was greatly desirous to eat that passover with them before He suffered. Then He washed their feet and taught them more than the great lesson of humility (Luke xxi, 15; John xxi, 1-17). He added the searching words quoted above, which the disciples each replied, "Lord, is it I?" He well had the revelation conveyed from them the true character of Judas Iscariot, that no one seems to have suspected him. What a lesson for us to cover up the faults of others as far as possible from all but God Himself! We should, like the eleven, have every reason known to ourselves. We have full liberty to judge ourselves, but not others (Rom. xii, 13).

23-25. "The Son of Man goeth as it is written of Him, but woe unto that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed!" John tells us that Simon betokened to him to ask our Lord he was leaning on Jesus' bosom which of them it was. Our Lord pointed him out by giving him a cup when He had dipped it in the dish, after which satan entered into Judas, and Jesus said to him, "Whose son art thou quickly. He, having received the cup, went out immediately, and it was night (John xxi, 23-30). What a night it was in his soul when he went out to sell his Lord for 30 pieces of silver! Numbered with the twelve, having equal privileges, honored above many of them, yet yielding to the devil to betray his Lord to be crucified. But what a night he has suffered since, and it shall never end (Rev. xvi, 10, 11).

26. "Take, eat; this is My body." As they were eating Jesus took bread and blessed it and brake it, and as He gave it to them this is what He said. Luke and Paul say that He took bread and gave thanks (Luke xxi, 13; 1 Cor. x, 24), and they also add that He said, "This do in remembrance of me." With steadfastness He was willing in the way prepared for Him, keeping all that should befall Him and meekly and willingly submitting to all for our sakes. He is the Passover Lamb whose blood, sprinkled upon us, saves us from wrath. He is the Bread of Life, the True Manne. As the sun of whom men live again, so He died for our sins and rose again for our justification; as bread corn is bruised, so He was bruised for our iniquities.

27, 28. "Drink ye all of it, for this is My blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Paul saith, by the Spirit is 1 Cor. x, 16. "This do ye as oft as ye drink of it in remembrance of Me." I believe we do not begin to appreciate the forgiveness of sins through His precious blood. A deep conviction of sin showing us something of His awful nature, and the wrath of God due to us for it, and from which He by His sacrifice has saved us, is a very blessed experience. When He says so lovingly, "Do this in remembrance of Me?" have those who profess to be His own redeemed ones turn away from this blessed privilege when they have the opportunity of obeying Him, unless it be that they do not begin to appreciate the redemption which He has provided and are not grateful to Him. He might well say to many as they turn away from the Holy Communion, "Is it nothing to you?" (Ezek. i, 12).

29, 30. "I will not drink hereafter of this fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father's kingdom." He had said about the same words earlier in the evening in connection with the passover (Luke xxi, 16-18). Was He looking forward to the millennial reign, when He shall judge all things into Himself, or was He looking farther to the time when God shall be all in all? (1 Cor. xv, 28-29). Judge, from the expression, "My Father's kingdom," that He was looking on to the great consummation when the earth shall be filled with the glory of God, as the waters cover the sea (Isa. ii, 14), when the will of God shall be done on earth as in heaven, and God shall be all in all. It shall surely be done for God hath purposed it, and "every purpose of the Lord shall be performed," both for His people and saints! His enemies.

HAD IT OCCURRED TO YOU
That labor unions are no friend to the miner?

That unions are no friend to the negro?

That if everybody were as poor as the laboring class, that there would be no one to employ the other?

That it is the wrong spirit that arranges the masses against the classes?

That if it were not for the capital of this country the laborers would suffer?

That a poor man can not give you employment long?

That those who give you employment are your friends in need and indeed?

That talk is very cheap, but you have to work to get money? I believe that if every man had a friend like me he would be a better man.

That if the laborer will stick to capital, capital will stick to him?

U. M. W. organizers and walking delegates from foreign ports are wandering about the streets and highways of Hopkins County in great numbers. Indiana, Pennsylvania, Illinois and other states are sending men to take charge of the affairs of this county. They not only intend to manage the affairs of the mines, but also the business of merchants and others. In Harrison, business men have no connection with the mines at all, have been notified they would be boycotted if they continued to criticize the unlawful acts of the U. M. W. They are walking delegates who do not live in this county, go about "well fixed" for "scabs and despots and operators."

The only law they believe in is that of their own will. "This" they talk about and abuse are the 3,000 honest men who work in the mines of Hopkins County.

One of these foreign delegates is named Leo Alexander, an ex-convict and a violent man, who is spreading the doctrines of the U. M. W.—the doctrine of hate, of robbery, of assassination, of destruction of property; the doctrine of starvation to those who will not join the order (and all its commands).

If the victims of the southwest strike could see the money thrown away in Hopkins County by these visitors they might think of the promise made them by the U. M. W. to care for them if they would throw down their tools and satisfactory wages, that the organization could be recognized, and under when the miners, the cold and hunger of a twenty-two months strike might end.

Poor Fred Coleman don't get this money, however; he has to call on the Mayor of Madisonville for help. Fred has the honor of being one of the earliest members of the order in Madisonville, and should get that two dollars and fifty cents per day and expenses, as well as some others.

Jno. Nance, at Barney's, was visited on Saturday night last by Messrs. Reed, Simons, Dunning, Blatter and a lot of others and invited to join the order. The gang went in a body peacefully(?) persuaded.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

People For the Week Beginning Feb. 17—Commenced by Rev. N. M. Doyle.

These words were spoken by Christ to the twelve apostles. It was about to send them forth upon a prolonged missionary tour. They were going out into the world to confess Him before men and to induce others to become disciples of Christ. They would meet with difficulties, obstacles and dangers. They would be "for as sheep in the midst of wolves." They would be to be hated of all men. Persecuted in one city, they were to flee to another. They were to risk their lives by going among them, to confess and to obey the body. With such a prospect before them they had great need of encouragement, and Christ did encourage them, and the least of these encouragements is to be found in the promise that confession of Him here meant confession by Him in heaven. They were to confess and to obey Him, knowing that denial of Him here would result in His denial of them before His Father's throne.

When all that portion of the United States west of the Missouri and Kansas rivers was a trackless wilderness, nearly half a century ago, the first issue of one of the world's greatest newspapers appeared. St. Louis was then a mere overgrown town on the western frontier of civilization, has developed into a great commercial metropolis; and the great modern newspaper, the ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, has kept pace with the progress of its city and section. It has been, from its first issue to the present time, the children's tutor, the youth's counselor, the woman's companion, the farmer's instructor and friend. Its circulation extends to every state and territory of the Union, to Canada and Mexico, and to every part of the world where there are readers of the English language. It is now in its 37th year. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Harry Morris was killed by a train near South Union. His brother met death in exactly the same way near the same place a few years ago.

An old bachelor says life is made up of crying, lying, sighing and dying.

Whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven. This warning was not out of place in the apostles' ears. They were in the midst of great dangers. They were surrounded by furious enemies. The temptations to deny Him would be great. They needed to know the results of confessing Him as well as the results of confessing Him. In denial on account of fear produced such undesirable results, how much more certain would denial be because of unbelief produce the same and even more serious results. It is unbelief in Christ, and not unbelief in Him, that leads men to deny Christ and to neglect Christ. But unbelief will not excuse us. We should believe. God has given us in His blood proof of Christ's divinity and work, and we see to it that we do not believe and do not confess. Christ will deny us before His Father and eternal separation from God and men will result.

THE PRAYER MEETING.
Have an evangelistic meeting, giving an opportunity to confess Christ.

BIBLE REFERENCE.

The Valley Walk.
The walk is not in the valley, but through the valley. Ah, then it must be a straight and plain path and one that leads somewhere! It must be a direct journey to a distant destination. Yes, I am assured that it is, and that the destination is nothing less delightful than heaven itself. How, then, can I fear when once by faith I have conquered the valley with the heaven in shining in its glory and where every green herb and beautiful flower is springing up to bless. Surely if it is only a quiet walk through the sheltered valley and the valley itself opens out full and broad into the shining fields of heaven, why, indeed, should I fear?—G. B. F. Hallock, D. D.

The Punishment of the Wicked.
No one can contemplate the awful misery of those who live and die in sin without a sense of horror.

God's law, if obeyed, fixes a penalty as forever closes the door of mercy. Continuance in sin is a willful transgression of the divine law and invokes the divine displeasure. Yet men sin on, regardless of the inevitable consequences this must follow. The persistent opposition in the face of offered pardon. They will not repent and turn to God with full purpose of heart.

Philadelphia Methodists.

Take Heart.
Though fearful storms have swept in wrath down the valleys, rugged peaks are still there, and the sun will shine again. The storm is followed by the calm. And winter ends by the spring. And the night gives place to sunlight day. Let hope still lead you to the light. Beyond the cloud still shines the sun. Press on until you reach the goal.

Perseverance thus many times has failed. But the one who perseveres will succeed. And thus has failed in the strife. And only the one who perseveres will succeed. Though great the grief and keen the pain, Oh, weary one, take heart again!

Drill and drill thy mountain peak; Arise and for thy life, stand fast. Be strong and brave; I'll not fly hands. For I will stand by thee to the end. To better things sweet victory leads. But God's love runs over the land.
